

In this issue

Review Article

Open Access Review Article PTZAIID:AGGR-2-105

The Impact of Sarcopenia on Elderly Cancer Patients

Published On: August 31, 2017 | Pages: 003 - 009

Author(s): Gianfranco Gioia*

Sarcopenia is a progressive loss of skeletal muscle mass and strength with consequent physical disability and negative impact on quality of life. Chemotherapy or surgery efficacy on cancer is influenced by the presence of sarcopenia.

Abstract View | Full Article View | DOI: 10.17352/aggr.000005

Case Report

Open Access Case Report PTZAIID:AGGR-2-104

Case Report: Extent of the Clinical Spectrum for C9orf72 Mutation - From Frontotemporal Dementia to Autonomic Dysfunction

Published On: January 24, 2017 | Pages: 001 - 002

Author(s): Catherine Takeda-Raguin*, Pierre Olivier Lang, Jérémie Perisse, Nathalie Philippi, Patrick Karcher and Thomas Vogel
C9ORF72 gene mutation on chromosome 9 corresponding to a repetition of hexanucleotides (GGGGCC) xn is the most common mutation found in frontotemporal lobar dementia (FTLD) and amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (SLA) [1].

Abstract View | Full Article View | DOI: 10.17352/aggr.000004